Perhaps such a construction would do injustice to the feelings of the writer: it certainly would to ours, and, if the expressions had been brought particularly to our notice, we of course should have erased them.

The William Henry Seward, a Republican leader, seys Mr. Saward is right. The farmer is fer extarminating slavery; the latter is for rendering it triumphant in the Confederacy.

Thus the issue between the two parties which these gentlemen represent is made up on a strictly meticanal lime. It is the North. It is the conflict of consolidated sections.

Sach is the issue presented by these mad factions. Is it not high time that a great party should be formed on a strictly mational lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the formed on a strictly national lisue and pit; the proceeding over this looky.

Such is the issue presented by these mad factions. Is it not high time that a great party should be formed on a strictly national leave and pit the l'nion against them both? Are not the American people ripe for such a movement? We believe they are.

Let them look at the sickening events now taking place at Washington, and pender the question.

If the food be properly adjusted to the requirements of the animal its weight remains anchanged—the quantity obserbed and that excreted arguedly correspond to one another—but if we herease the food a part of the excess will be daposited in the tissues to add to its weight. Now, the quantity absorbed depends upon the state of the animal—a can beart thoroughly exhausting its food, while, when it is nearly fat, it takes only a small proportion. So, likewise, if the quantity of food be greater than the digestive organs can well dispose of, a sertain quantity escapes digestion altogether, and is practically lost.

The problem which the feeder has to solvair, how to supply his cattle withsuch food, and in each proportions, as to insure the largest increase with the smallest loss. In solving this problem we must in the first place consider the general maters of all animals, the constituents of which may be divided into three great clauses—the nitrogenous matters, which go to the formation of faceh; the saccharine and oily, which emptor respiration must proceed elemnitancessaly, the most advantageous food will be that which supplies them in the most readily accinations of nutrition and respiration must proceed elemnitancessaly, the most advantageous food will be that which supplies them in the most readily accination that are the two great functions of nutrition and respiration must proceed elemnitancessaly, the ment advantageous food will be that which supplies them in the most readily accinations for these matters, it will be obvious that ANTCINCTES OF WELLINGTON.—With him there was never relevation till every duty was discharged. A curions illustration of this babit was told us by an English statasman, who had it from General Alaya. On the night pravions to one of the Duke's Penincular victures, another officer came up to Alaya and a ked is much elarm, "What will become of n? Wa shell have a great battle temorrow, and Lord Welliogton is doing nothing but fiving with Dadama do Unitriena." I am very glad to hear it," replied Alaya, "If we are to have a great battle temorrow, for it is quite certain that all bis arrangements are made if he in fring with Madama do Quintena." It is coolness in dang, r, and his personal escapes were as arithing attributes of the individual men as his tactics were attributes of the general. The U.S: revenue cutter Jee Lane, Chadwick, arrived in Victoria Nov. 6 with dispatches from Licutenant General Scott, U.S. A., to his Exceliency Governor Douglas.

The II. B. Co.'s steamer Ottar, Mouatt, left Victoria Nov. 5 for Bellevur, to hring over sheep from the Compony's station at that place.

The Olympia Pioneer and Democrat states that Lieuienant General Scott has taken up his quarters on Fidalgo Island, where he will probably remein during the pendenty of the dispute regarding San Juan. Sonors is wholly independent of either Jamez or his am'agenist. The cepture of Mazantan and the comquest of Sinsion were but parts of a programme whose object is to establish a separate Republic only of the threa States of Sonora, Sinalos, and Chilmaha, which would, of course, lavolve the possession of Baja Calife rula likewise.

This new Republic would possess the most valuable exapport on the Proise, and is rich in resources of plause every palare. It would be emply cepable of supporting thirty militions of souls, and by establishing a brisk comperce with San Francisco and other American ports, would very soon find itself possessed of sufficient power to extend its boundaries further south. Pesqueira himself is but second or third fiddle in this concert, but is flattered and courted for the politic consideration of his popularity in Sonora and the assistance ke can be induced to length in suddiers. He is a man of estreme personal timidity, and possesses in an eminent degree the salutary faculty of "souffing the battle frem afar." During an engagement he takes up a position ten or fifeen leagues from the field of context, with feat horses all caprisoned for repid flight in the event of defeat, and keeps videttes riding constantly between himself and the place of conflict to convey the earliest intriligence of defeat or victory.

Some years ago a party of gontlemen were discussing the question of blindoess over their wine in the mansion of a northern noble. It was stated by one of the company that persons had been known to lose the power of vision, so far as one eye was concerned, long before they had any conscioueness of the defect. Polite doubts ware capressed on the point. Every one would admit that a man might labor under a mental or moral cataract without belong rarticularly alive to the infirmity, but physical opacity was too conspicuons an evil to be long concensed. More in jest than with any suspicion of the result, the loudest of the akopties was requested to ascertain whether his own organs were "all right." Closing one eye, he exclaimed, with a start of horror: "Wby, birss ma, I can scarcely eee at all!" He himself was In tha very predicamant he had refused to accredit. TO THE BEDRUGGED AND l'OISONED CITIZENS OF KENTUCKY.—You are overron with a deluge of the vilest compounds in the form of "Alcoholic Drinks" that ever emanated from the pest of excelety, the Luctor Mixer. They are sold to you as a luxnry, or they are dispensed to you as a Medicine, end in either case the effect is the sams.

There is but one way to escape, and that is to use as a luxnry or a medicament a sefe and reliable cinulent, sold under stamp and seal, which renders it certain that it has not been tampered with. Such an article le
